You Said...

“Cheaper items in the Staff Shop”

“Source cheaper products to stock the staff shop”

“Keep the cost of stock down so it's cheaper than anywhere local”

“Prices in staff shop aren't cheaper really anymore, and it's suffering a bit with top 10 syndrome”

“Discounted prices, often the prices are higher than local supermarkets”

...We Did

This is something we hear often in our Staff Shops and sadly isn't an easy solve. How do big brand stores sell items so cheap? They buy in bulk! (and we are talking warehouses full of stock). The Staff Shops only have a small amount of storage space and therefore can't access the deals that big chains can, this is why we can't match the price of a crème egg in your local 'insert supermarket giant name here' store.

However, our Staff Shop manager is an absolute whizz when it comes to finding stock at the right price and spends a lot of time looking for special offers and discounts on products, meaning these amazing prices can then be reflected in store and we are still able to offer some of the cheapest prices versus other onsite vendors. Everyday Laura is looking for new suppliers and cheaper products!
